

Previous work experience

After working for small architecture and urban planning practices in Madrid during her studies Iria moved to Rotterdam in 2008 to join Erick Van Egeraat and Office for Metropolitan Architecture, working on a variety of cultural, residential and master planning projects.

In 2010 Iria moved to Japan to work for Akihisa Hirata Office and finally to UK, where she worked for ACME between 2012 and 2016.

Iria has been involved in numerous schemes and competitions across her working experience on projects in multiple sectors and scales including the Cordoba Congress Centre, Kyoto Prefecture Library and Budapest city Hall. During her last period in London Iria was mainly involved in Residential projects in London, from high end to social housing along different stages, from concept to construction documents.

After almost 8 years of international experience, she has established sukunfuku studio with Miguel Huelga.

Education

Iria graduated with distinction from the School of Architecture of Madrid (ETSAM) in 2008.

As complementary studies she completed a Masters Degree in "Advanced Design and Digital Architecture" in Pompeu Fabra University (PFU) in Barcelona, Spain (2009).
